LIFE'S VICISSITUDES;

OR,

THE REUNION OF TWO FAITHFUL HEARTS

A snug little cottage nestling down the seaside. It stood on the outskirts of a retired village in the heart of England; and as we write of days long gone by, rarely indeed was it that a stranger was seen in the sleepy streets; for men did not then wander aimlessly over sea and land, as in these later times of swift and easy locomotion. But one of these extremely rare visitors it was who now paused before the gate of the dwelling we have referred to, listening with rapt attention to the clear, bird-like tones that floated out from the open window.

'Beautiful! beautiful!' he exclaimed. 'Had I but the training of that voice—who knows? I will at least make the attempt.'

A few moments later found the manager of the great London Opera Troupe in earnest conversation with the fair singer and her aged father.

'No, no, sir,' said the latter, as the visitor rose to depart. 'No, sir. I thank you for the praise you give my child, but I cannot consent to have her go on the stage, even though, as you say, she would be liberally repaid. I trust she will never need to earn her bread, and her voice suits me as it is.'

So the manager departed, leaving his address, in hopes, he said, that he should some day have the pleasure of hearing more favorably from the young prima donna, as he smilingly called the blushing maiden before him.

'Here comes your friend, Philip Morgan,' said Mr. Leigh, stealing a sly glance at his daughter. 'You had better go out and meet him. I suppose he has come to join in your evening walk, as usual. Ah, Phil, my boy! Edith is ready. Be off with you, for it is getting late.'

Philip Morgan, unlike the girl by whose side he walked, was not the child of a man who could lay claim to being in even moderately 'comfortable circumstances.' On the contrary, Philip's father was a poor, hard-working farmer, whose sterile tract of land scarce afforded his small family a decent support.

Philip was the only son—the only child, in fact—although there had once been two others; and now that he was approaching manhood, and, moreover, had dared to picture in the far away future a home of his own, in which Edith Leigh, as its mistress, was ever the centre point of his fond dreams, he began to feel the necessity of going to work and carving out a fortune which would enable him to realize his visions.

There was no opening for him in that quiet, sleepy village. He must leave it, and seek the crowded haunts of men—the city. There he knew there was always the chance for an honest, industrious man to push his way.

He resolved to go at once to obtain a situation as school teacher. That was all his ambition at present. He would be content to start thus humbly at first. Teachers were not so plentiful then as now, and consequently were more liberally remunerated. Philip was thinking of all this, as he walked silently at Edith's side, wondering how he should tell her, how she would receive the news, and wishing that he had the courage—which he had not—to speak to her of his love, and receive from her in return the precious promise to be his wife.

Although no words of love had ever passed between these two, each had long since read the other's heart, and knew, just as though the lips had spoken it, that they were all in all to each other that a future apart would be a living death. Theirs was a tacit engagement.

So they parted; and Philip went away to a great city, and still no word had bound them to each other; but the bond—the chain was none the less secure that no lock had been placed upon it.

The months passed on, and three letters, telling of his success, were received by the dear ones whom Philip had left in the little hamlet—letters brought to them by couriers who carried despatches to a neighboring lord.

Of course Edith wrote to him—at least, until, in his third letter, he requested her to wait until she heard from him again, as he was about to go abroad in company with the boy baronet whose tutor he had become. Ah! had he but known of the weary days and months and years that must pass ere they should meet again.

Scarcely had Philip landed in France, when a terrific tempest arose and swept over the Island of Great Britain, from north to south, leaving ruin and desolation in its path. Many were the families left homeless and penniless on the world by this fearful visitation, and among these unfortunates was Edith Leigh's father.

Poor old man! He was with difficulty borne from his life-long home, only to look on and moan, in helpless agony, as the relentless stream wrested it from its foundation, and bore it away on its swift course to the ocean—not his house only, but all his worldly goods, his sheep, his cattle, his horses—the river bore them all away. Prosperous as all his former life had been, fickle Fortune was still unsatisfied with the adversity she had brought upon him—she had not yet filled his cup to the brim, so she added another drop.

It chanced that he had lately incurred a small debt to a man who bore him no love; and now, when he knew the old man would be unable to pay it at once, he made an imperious demand for its settlement. The result was such as he had intended, and ere long Leigh lay languishing in prison, hopeless of release, unless by some miracle the means should arise to satisfy his creditor's claim.

His horror-stricken daughter was received into the kindly home of a friend. (Philip's parents had removed from the village,) but the chief portion of her time was spent in the gloomy prison of the neighboring town. Her busy brain was ever at work to devise some means by which her father's release might be effected; and at length a brilliant idea dawned upon her. Her proud parent at first opposed, but finally consented to the plan—which was no other than to seek the opera manager, whose address she still remembered, and to accept the standing offer he had made her. But one thing the sensitive old man insisted upon—she must not confide her intentions to any one, and she must appear before the public under an assumed name.

When she had obtained the required sum she was to remit it to his creditor, and then he would join her, a free man once more.

And so, in silence and secrecy, Edith Leigh stole away from the village—not without a pang—and after a weary journey, found herself in the presence of the London manager. He was unfeignedly pleased to see her, and at once took her under his own protection, and gave her a home in his own family. More—when she related the events which had led to her accepting his longtime offer, he advanced the full amount of her father's indebtedness, and so she was speedily joined by him to part no more on earth.

All went well with the young singer; with her debut on the stage began her triumph. Wealth poured in upon her, and she might, ere very long, have retired from the scene of her successful labors possessed of an ample independence. Once she would gladly have availed herself of the opportunity; but now the young 'prima donna' bore about with her a heart heavy with care and disappointment.

Her father had left their London address with a friend in their native village, that when Philip returned he might follow them. But he had not come; and as the years rolled by, Edith sometimes met the baronet, whose tutor he had been, but still no news of him whose every look and action had once seemed full of love for her.

At length the time drew near when the heavy burden was to be lifted from her heart. She stood before the curtain one night, gracefully acknowledging the applause with which she was greeted at the close of the opera, when her heart gave one great leap, for there before her was Philip Morgan—older, graver than when they had parted—watching her with eager, wistful eyes.

Scarce conscious of what she did, Edith hastened from the stage, pointing him out to a servant, and desiring his presence in the now empty green room.

He came, looking pale and sad, and seeking vainly to conceal his agitation beneath a grave courtesy. But a few words sufficed to bring back the old joyous look into his dark eyes. She had not forgotten him, then! It was all a mistake—each had been faithful to the other, and how that mistake occurred was easily explained now they had met.

Philip Morgan had returned to the village after spending six months abroad, and no one could reply to his inquiries as to the whereabouts of the Leighs, the man with whom their address had been left having died in the interval. Knowing not what to think of this mysterious disappearance, he went to London, and entered upon a long, weary search, that was rendered yet more hopeless from the change which the father and daughter, unknown to him, had made in their name.

He had heard much of the new 'prima donna,' but never dreamed that there was any connection between her and his Edith. He had not visited the opera for years before this happy night, and only wondered and pondered over the impulse which had led him to break through his habits on this occasion.

But that meeting, though as joyous a one to our two faithful lovers, was far from joyous to the public, who had hoped long to listen to the sweet voice of the young singer.

Very eagerly, now that she no longer needed to work to drown sorrowful thoughts did Edith Leigh leave a mode of life which had been forced upon her, rather than chosen. A few weeks after their reunion Philip's fondest dreams were realized, and the fair maiden to whom his heart had ever been faithful became his happy wife.

The other day, at a concert, a gentleman having put his hat upon a chair to keep a place returned to claim it after a short absence. The hat he found, sure enough, where it had been left, only there was a stout lady sitting on my hat. The lady blushed a little, turned round, and said in the blandest manner, 'Oh, I beg pardon! I'm sure I thought it was my husband's!'

THE LOPEZ AFFAIR.

From the Cincinnati Times Nov. 17th.

During the present excitement over Cuban affairs, such frequent reference has been made to the Lopez expedition, during the terms of Presidents Taylor and Fillmore, as to make further and more accurate information on the subject desirable. The case differs so materially from the one now at issue, in its diplomatic and international aspects, that the outlines of its history are all that is necessary to show the error of any comparison.

Lopez was a native of Venezuela, and had risen to considerable distinction in the Spanish army during the war of independence in that colony, finally attaining the rank of Major General. At the close of the war he returned to Spain, taking prominent part in the troubles of Isabella's early reign, and subsequently married a wealthy Cuban lady and settled on the island, holding office under Captain General Valdez.

The fever of revolution which broke out all over the Eastern Continent in 1848, communicated itself to Lopez, and awakened the idea of a revolution in Cuba which should sever the island from Spanish rule. His projects were speedily discovered, and Lopez fled to the United States, carrying with him all his available wealth. Using this country as a base of operations, he planned two further expeditions—one in 1850, and the last in August, 1851. In the first he succeeded in landing on Cuban soil at the head of five hundred men, but was attacked by a small body of men, defeated, and forced to re-embark. The expedition met with no active sympathy of any importance on the island.

In the attempt of 1851, a landing was again effected on the western extremity of the island, at the town of Morillo. Leaving Colonel Crittenden with a force of 200 men to garrison the town, Lopez proceeded inward, expecting to waken the fires of revolution throughout the island. In this he was sadly disappointed, and after successfully repelling an attack of the Spanish forces at Los Pozas, he sought refuge in the mountains, where he was soon captured and taken to Havana. In the meantime, Col. Crittenden and his men had been overpowered at Morillo, and all shot.

The course of our government in the matter had been prompt, and strictly in accordance with international obligations. The absence of any revolution in Cuba gave to the expedition a purely piratical color, and being posted as to its preparation in New Orleans, President Fillmore issued a proclamation in April, 1851, warning its originators of their breach of law and its consequences. At the time of the capture and the arrest diplomatic measures were resorted to to mitigate, in as far as possible, the punishment of the Americans concerned, though it was understood that the extreme penalty was fully deserved by the law of nations. Those sent prisoners to Spain were finally brought home at the expense of our nation.

The sympathy of the South, particulary, and of the country generally, was of course with any measure likely to bring about the independence and future annexation of Cuba, and there was at the time much excitement over Lopez's and Crittenden's execution. But there was no room to dispute the justice of the sentence, and no thought of pretext of government interference. That case no more resembles the present one than legal execution resembles murder.

PIGMIES.

Dr. Schweinfurth made diligent inquiry wherever he went as to the existence of dwarfish races of men. On the upper Nile he was told of men 'not over three feet of stature, wearing white beards, who were skilled in elephant hunting, and who sold ivory to foreign traders.' But it was at the court of Munsa, king of Mombuttu, that he first saw an individual of this diminutive race. 'One morning,' says he, 'the camp rung with a joyous shout, as my people brought in a curious timid little man, the palpable embodiment of the myths which have been current for ever so long.' By means of gifts and kind usage the pigmy was induced to take a seat, when he was measured and his proportions taken. He stated that he was the head of a family, living half an hour's journey from the capital; that his tribe are called Acca, and that their country lies south of that Mombuttu; that they had been conquered by the latter, and settled in the neighborhood of the royal residence. His height was one metre (thirthty-nine inches), and albiet he had a pendent belly and very slender shanks, he performed incredible feats of agility. On the next day several others of his tribe, induced by the promise of gifts, paid our traveler a visit, and they too were measured and had their portraits taken.

When we were with an English party, a bright, slender lady, who might well have been thought a Bostonian, remarked of something that 'it must be worth $100.' The American, hearing the word 'dollars,' instantly said, 'What, are you an American?' 'No,' replied the lady, 'but as you were I thought it best to put it in dollars.' Query: What number of dollars would be required to report that 'lady's' good breeding?

THE CALIFORNIAN AT VIENNA.

I am in bonds and fetters though not understanding the German tongue. It is a weary torture to be stupid, uncomprehended foreigner. I am lost in a linguistic swamp. It is necessary to employ one man to talk to another. The commissionnaire does not understand more than half I say. What might be not be interpreting to the other fellow? The most trivial want cost me a world of anxiety and trouble. I desired some blotting-paper. I went to a little stationery store. I said, 'Paper! paper! for the blot, you know. Ich bin Englisher—er; a ink maker dry; what you call um! Vas? vas? Hang it!' They took down all sorts of paper—letter-paper wrapping-paper, foolscap, foreign post. I tried to make my wants known by signs. I made myself simply ridiculous. The shopkeeper stared at me in perplexity, disgust, and despair. Then he discussed the matter with his wife. I fretted perspiring vigorously. I went away. I went to a commissionnaire at my hotel. It required five minutes to explain the matter to him. He discussed the matter with the portier. The portier is quite buried under gold lace and brass buttons. The commissionnaire returns to me. He thinks he knows what I require, but is not quite certain. All this trouble for a bit of blotting-paper! It is so with everything. Every little matter of every-day life, which at home to think of and to do are almost identical, here cost so much time, labor, and anxiety! My strength is all gone when I have purchased a paper of pens and a bottle of ink. Breakfast and dinner task me to the utmost. The slightest deviation from established custom seems to act upon operatives at the restaurant like a wrong figure in a table of logarithms. It required three days to convince a stunted boy in a long-tailed coat that I did not wish beer for dinner. He would bring beer. I would say, 'I don't want beer! I want my—some dinner.' He would depart and take counsel with the head-waiter, and I would feel as if I had been doing something for which I ought to be corrected. The latter functionary approaches and exclaims with a domineering voice, 'Vat you vant?' I reply with meekness, 'Dinner, sir if you please.' He brings me an elegantly-bound book containing the bill of fare. But it is German; I look at it knowingly; the Sanscrit is quite intelligible. I put my finger on a word which I suppose means soup. I look up meekly at the functionary. He glowers contemptuously upon me. He recommended me to an underling and bustles off to guest more important. There are in the dining-hall French, German, Italian, English, and Japanese. Tongues, plates, knives and forks clatter over the stony pavement outside. I wait for my soup. Hours seem to lag by. I appeal in vain to other waiters. Life is too busy and important a matter with them to pay any attention to me. Lippincott's Magazine.

COONS AND COLLEGIANS.

Gunnery is not taught, it appears, in Dartmouth College. Several students of that venerable institution being out shooting lately found a coon in a tree. They shot at the animal twenty-four times without hitting him, while he sneered at their clumsiness from his perch. At last, coming down, having lost all patience at being killed so clumsily, he went for those literary young men. Long the battle raged. The stock of a $250 gun was shivered. Coonie died at last, for the odds against him were fearful. He was one of the heaviest characters of his class, and weighed thirty pounds and six ounces over.

Sum in arithmetic for school-boys, showing how a fortune in stocks can be wiped out summarily: Mr. Clark died last summer leaving an estate valued at $6,000,000. The property consisted of 'Vanderbilt stocks,' viz: New York Central, Lake Shore, Western Union and Union Pacific, worth perhaps $12,000,000 but estimated at last summer's prices at $20,000,000. There was due on call loans $14,000,000, leaving an apparent surplus of $6,000,000. A fall of thirty per cent. wipes out this surplus and forty per cent. off leaves a deficit of $2,000,000.

French anecdote: 'Said a mistress: 'Justine, you must present everything to me on a waiter. The next day the mistress heard the servant talking in the ante chamber with some one; rang, and asked her whom she was talking with. 'With my sister, madame; she is hunting a place.' 'I will help her to get one,' said the mistress; 'but why don't you present her to me?' 'It can't be done,' answered Justine She must be very proud—your sister.' 'Ah mon Dieu madame, it is not that; it's because I can't get her on to the waiter.'

A youth of the period, while reading a chapter of Genesis, paused to ask his mother whether the boys in that time used to do their sums on the ground. It was discovered that he had been reading the passage, 'and the sons of man multiplied on the face of the earth.'

EXTRAORDINARY SCENE AT A WRECK.—A correspondent, describing the wreck of the steamer Agra, off Galle, bound from Calcutta to London via the Suez Canal, says that after the vessel struck on the rocks the passengers and crew had barely time to escape into the boats, as the seas came tumbling over the side, sweeping everything before them, carrying away one poor invalid sailor and bursting open the cages and dens of an extensive menagerie on board going home for the Zoological Gardens. The escape and striking out amid the waves of a crowd of tigers, elephants, &c., and their roars and screams adding to the terror of the wretched passengers, presented a spectacle that will not soon be forgotten. One elephant managed to swim ashore, as did one of the inhabitants of the adjacent coast, who are said to be living in a state of siege, not daring to venture outside their barricaded doors.

The Paris correspondent of an English medical journal gives the following description of a new method for fattening fowls: The birds, which consist of common fowls, ducks and turkeys, are confined in small open stalls, which are just large enough to receive them, and in which they are so fastened that they can hardly move. Here they are fed with an emulsion composed of milk and oatmeal, which is pumped into their gizzards at stated hours. This is all the food they get, and, with the exception of the ducks, which are allowed a little water, they have no other drink. The fowls are taken at from three to six months old, and are fattened in from twelve to eighteen days, at a trifling cost.

A good-looking Irishman stopping at a hotel to warm himself, inquired of the landlord—

'What is the news?'

The landlord, disposed to run upon him, replied—

'They say the devil is dead.'

'An' sure,' says Pat, 'that's news indade.'

Shortly after, he went to the bar, laid down some coppers, and resumed his seat. The landlord, always ready for a customer, asked him what he would take.

'Nothing at all,' said Pat.

'Then why did you put down this money?'

'An' sure, sir, it's the custom in my country, when a chap loses his daddy to give him a few coppers to help him pay for the wake.'

Forcault has invented an apparatus for measuring the velocity of light, which includes a small wheel that can be run at the rate of 60,000 revolutions a minute. The wheel carries a diminutive mirror, which at first was of the ordinary kind; but the great speed quickly stripped the amalgum from the glass, and a metallic mirror had to be substituted.

A fashion paper says: 'Worth, the Paris man modiste, employs twenty women to make toilets. He merely lays back in his chair, shuts up his eyes, and makes suggestions.' It is probable that he lays back in his chair,' very possible that he 'makes suggestions,' but that he shuts his eyes is not only improbable but, we had nearly said, impossible.

Wall street 'bulls' and 'bears' will have their fun, in spite of their beastly names. On the morning of the summary suspension of business at the Stock Board the younger members captured an itinerant band, and, selecting their own appropriate airs, regaled themselves with such well-known pieces as 'Up in a Balloon, Boys,' 'Cheer Up' and 'The Last Rose of Summer.'

There are now in operation in the United States fifteen narrow guage railroads, with a total of seven hundred miles of track. The twenty roads in course of construction will increase the number of miles to 1,930. The average cost of narrow guage roads, with the rolling stock complete, is $10,000 per mile.

Not much danger as yet!—Squire's lady: 'And how has your brother Jack been behaving lately, Sally?' 'Thank'ee, my lady, ee haint bin no wuss; ee are read the good book as you sent 'im, and bin twice to Sunday school, and it don't seem to have done him no particular 'arm at present.'

The monument to Philip Embury, the founder of Methodism in this country, was unveiled Monday at Cambridge, N. Y., in the presence of a large concourse of people. Bishop Janes, Simpson and others made addresses.

A Chinaman came down one of the main streets in Millerton, Cal., on election day, in a state of inebriation and of joyful exaltation, and thus delivered himself: 'Hoop la! me all same Melican man. Hair cut short rod drunk like h—l. Hoop la!'

Professor Hitchcock states that the total area of the coalfields of the United States amounts to 230,659 square miles, besides the strata which belong to other formations than the carboniferous, as for instance those of Virginia, of the territories west of the Missouri river, and those in California.

Hillsborough Recorder.

WEDNESDAY.....NOV. 26. 1873.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

This document is too long to give it insertion, even if it would repay the labor of reading. Its tone however is somewhat better than any that has preceded it from the same source, and we present a brief summary of its prominent features.

After congratulating the people upon the blessings of health, good crops and general prosperity enjoyed throughout the State, the Governor proceeds to a consideration of the State Debt.

The debt is stated to be, including all classes of bonds, thirty-eight millions of dollars, or thereabouts, and the Legislature is appealed to devise ways and means at once to free the State from its liabilities, first by ascertaining the amount that ought to be paid; then seek terms of compromise with the creditors, who, the Governor says, will be found liberal and reasonable. To pay the debt, a new debt will have to be created by the issue of a new set of bonds, which will embrace a consolidation of the old bonds, which will be returned into the Treasury.

The Governor has become suddenly very sensitive to the honor and fame of North Carolina. Destroyed by the hands of his own party, the Conservative party, if praise from such a source is of any value, may feel complimented that it is called to the rescue, and that to its sense of honor, and its ability is referred the work of redemption.

Education. Upon this subject, the Governor indulges in the usual platitudes, without any practical suggestion, or anything looking like action. With regard to the University, he counsels delay, and a postponement till better times. Considering that his party destroyed the Institution, the people and the Legislature will hardly tolerate measures which look to its farther degradation, and they ought to act in a manner precisely contrary to the one advised.

Orphan Asylum. A recommendation for aid to this is made, which the Legislature should at once heed. Under the head of Administration of Justice, the Governor has something to say about the equalization of Jury rights, and the injustice and partiality displayed in the selection of Jurors. This is a matter that will regulate itself without Legislation interposition.

On the subject of Rail Roads, the Governor has an important recommendation looking forward to the consolidation of the N. C. R. R. the W. N. C. R. R. the purchase of the Atlantic Road, and of the Western road, the whole to be consolidated into one corporation to be known as the North Carolina Rail Road, Co., and extending from the East Tennessee and Virginia Road to Beaufort Harbor. The scheme is a magnificent and important one, and will attract the earnest attention of the Legislature. We will not here comment upon the scheme.

Upon the subject of Immigration the Governor says so much has been suggested, and so little acted upon that he is at a loss what to say. He however expresses a deep interest in the subject. Upon the subject of Constitutional Amendments, the Governor expresses a doubt as to whether they were duly submitted in the way designated by the Constitution, but as he is not absolutely certain of his position, will interpose no obstacle in the way of their final adoption.

The Governor seems to think, that on the recognition of the validity of the election, the annual session must cease, and the Legislature come to an end, on the 1st Monday in December.

The Governor has some magnificent recommendations in regard to the Penitentiary. He proposes a finish it in a style, proportioned to the character of the State. Evidently he is more interested in the perfection of this institution than of the University, since so many more of his own friends will become inmates of the former than of the latter.

There are some other points of minor interest touched upon, but which will hardly repay notice. The only measure likely to attract the notice of the Legislature will be the suggestions in regard to Rail Road consolidations. Upon all other subjects, there is a coolness of assumption, and an impudence of assertion, which coming from the source it does will defeat its own object, and deserve the neglect, if it does not receive the contempt of the body to which it was addressed.

COTTON MARKET.

There has been rather more animation in the Cotton Market during the past week, and a slight advance in prices. In New York, the article was firm with sales at 15½, and 16.

Wilmington, steady with sales at 12½, to 13½. Raleigh sales at 13½.

No change to notice in the Tobacco Market.

Gold active at 10 and 10⅛.

CUBAN AFFAIRS.

The war cloud thickens every day. So far from the Spanish Home government showing the disposition to disavow and make reparation for the outrages of its colonial authorities, the Spanish Foreign Secretary, in an interview with Minister Sickles, announced that Spain would not tolerate American interference.

In the interview, the Spanish minister haughtily refused to permit Sickles, to discuss the municipal affairs of Cuba. Public feeling in Spain runs high and the United States is openly charged as being the instigator and supporter of the Cuban insurrection. Sickles himself had been in some personal peril, and his house had been surrounded by a furious mob. He thinks war unavoidable as Spain will make no concessions.

On this side of the water, there is almost a perfect unity of feeling, and the demand for decisive action is urgently pressed upon the government, which is acting both prudently and vigorously, doing nothing not warranted by law, yet making every preparation to act at once under the authority which Congress will at once give.

At the South, there will be as cordial a support be given as at the North, not, as is asserted by Northern papers from any greediness for the acquisition of Cuba, for really we have no interest in territorial aggrandisement now-adays. Nor yet from any peculiar sensitiveness about the honor of the flag, for the efforts of the North and of the administration to stifle any returning affection to it have been somewhat successful—but solely from that generous impulse, which looks upon cowardly cruelty with loathing, and which would visit upon cold blooded assassination the extremest penalties of vengeance.

And the South feels that sympathy for the oppressed, struggling against powerful odds, and is now ready to tender that aid to others which was denied to itself by the rest of the world in its own dire need.

But from whatever motive of action, the North and the South will be together in this conflict, and the results may be most happy in the restoration of harmony and confidence between the now estranged sections.

THE INJUNCTION.

It is the opinion of the best legal ability in Raleigh, that Treasurer Jenkins was unnecessarily prompt in regarding the notice served upon him, as an absolute restraint upon his use of the public funds. It is regarded as simply a notice of an injunction to be heard on a future day, and that in the meantime he was at liberty to act with perfect freedom. The Treasurer seemed to have acted promptly and exercised abundant caution lest he bring himself in contempt with the puissant representative of the legal forces of the United States.

The 26th instant is the day fixed for the hearing of the injunction, and during the time between the serving of the notice and the argument, the Treasury will have been closed to outgoing payments, and great inconvenience will have been experienced, all of which will appear to have been unnecessary.

RELIEF OF SHERIFFS.

In the House, a bill passed on the 20th for the relief of Sheriffs, giving them until the 1st of January to make their settlements on condition of paying up three fourths of their obligations as the time now required by law.

The bill was hurried through to a vote and was passed on the third working day of the session.

We confess we did not see either the necessity, the wisdom, or the consistency of that act of Legislation. There seems to be no necessity, since most of the Sheriffs had made their collections, and therefore the delay asked gave no relief to the people, who had already suffered as much as was to be exacted from them. If there were cases of special hardship, it should have been relieved by special acts.

It was not wise, from the fact that it leaves large sums in the hands of Sheriffs, which had as well have been paid into the Treasury, to be used in the mean time for speculation, and individual profit. It would have been safer in the Treasury.

It is not consistent, because it is in direct opposition to one of the most cherished objects of last session's Legislation, which was to secure promptness and fidelity in Sheriff's settlements. This act throws the whole matter at sea again.

But the evil is done, and we can only regret, without being able to remedy it.

For the first time within the memory of the present generation, the balance of trade is largely in favor of the United States, the exports exceeding the imports by 40,000,000. The country ought to be prospering with this exhibit.

LEGISLATIVE SUMMARY.

We have no space this week to enter into details.

On Friday, Mr. Merrimon's bill to require the Treasurer to pay all lawful demands upon the Treasury, in disregard of the notice of injunction, under the pains and penalties of fine and imprisonment, was debated at length. Mr. Norwood opposed the bill on the ground, that the day fixed for the hearing of the injunction was so close at hand, that no practical good could be accomplished by the passage of the bill.

A number of bills were introduced into the House, condemning the back pay, and salary grab. Every member of the House seemed to have been provided with a bill or resolution on the subject. Mr. McGehee called up his bill on the subject, but Mr. Trivett submitted a substitute going farther, and condemning the President for signing the bill.

Mr. Dunham in the Senate introduced resolutions condemning the Spanish butcheries in Cuba, and calling upon Congress to grant belligerent rights to the patriots.

Mr. Bennett's resolutions in the House releasing the Public printer from the liabilities incurred by failure to comply with his contract, were discussed and passed. It was shown that there was no failure in the printing, but that the binding was delayed by an excess of other public work in the hands of the binder, for which there was urgent demand by the Departments.

Hereafter we will give a weekly summary of Legislative proceedings, as we did last winter, so far as they may be of interest to the public.

General Longstreet has tendered to the Government, in case their services should be needed in a war with Spain, ten thousand men, to be raised from his old companions in arms.

Genl. Pickett has offered to raise one hundred and eighty thousand men.

Everywhere the spirit of war seems thoroughly aroused.

The National Republican gives a list of vessels in the American Navy that can be put in Commission.

There are four steamers, classed as first rates with an average of 45 heavy guns each. Thirty one second rates averaging 20 heavy guns. Twenty two third rates, averaging 8 guns. Five fourth rates averaging 5 heavy guns, and twenty sailing frigates of the old class all with a heavy weight of metal.

There are also 54 Iron clads.

The Spanish Navy contains 9 Iron clads, very heavily armed, and adapted to any service. 10 wooden frigates of the first class, 26 of the third class, 11 of the third class, and 8 gun boats.

The American Navy consists largely of of steam vessels; the Spanish, with exception of its Iron clads, is composed of sailing vessels.

The Spanish Army in Cuba is said to number fifty seven thousand men.

William Tweed "Boss Tweed" as he is commonly called, has been convicted in New York on several charges of fraud and embezzlement. He was a year ago, one of the ruling spirits, and one of the richest men in New York, and one of the greatest scoundrels.

LATEST BY TUESDAY'S MAIL.

Col. W. P. Bynum, now a resident of Charlotte, has been appointed by Governor Caldwell, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, in place of the Hon. Nat. Boyden, dec'd. Apart from the politics of Col. Bynum, the appointment is a good one. We know Col. B. to be an able lawyer, and believe him to a pure man, and too independent to prostitute his high position to purposes of party.

The Attorney General, Mr. Hargrove, has given it as his official opinion, that there is no injunction in the Self case, and that the Treasurer is not restrained.

The bill introduced by Mr. Merrimon, imposing penalties upon the State Treasurer for refusing to pay out monies on proper warrants, passed its second reading in the Senate by 25 to 14.

Rev. Dr. Lyman will be consecrated to the Assistant Bishopric of North Carolina, in Raleigh on the 11th day of December. The Bishop of the Diocese of Maryland will be the Consecrator. Bishop Lay will preach the sermon, Bishop Atkinson and Bishop Stevens will serve as Presentors. The Bishop of Louisiana, Alabama, and South Carolina will be present.

Nothing later respecting Cuban affairs.

American Mail Steamers, entering the port of Havana, are all boarded, the mails taken possession of, and in some instances, passengers seized and imprisoned; in others, they were compelled to re-embark for New York.

Milton Tobacco Market.

The Chronicle complains that we ignore the Milton Tobacco Market.

It was scarcely intentional, and in our last weeks issue we referred to the very laudable attempt of the Milton Warehouses to keep the market alive. But if we do not show the same interest in the Milton Market as others, we do not take any blame to ourselves. We have no Milton patronage in any form and we must be excused if we should be as indifferent to the Milton people as they are to us, Brother Evans must take care of his own.

We believe the efforts of the former Editors of the Recorder to build up a tobacco market in Hillsboro, are appreciated.

List of Claims.

We have received from the Commissioner of Claims at Washington City, a pamphlet containing a list of all the claims presented to the Commissioner under the Act of Congress of March 3rd 1871.

Among the claimants are large numbers from Orange County, and we shall be happy to give any information on the subject, that we are possessed of.

We infer from the pamphlet that their claims are still unadjusted, and that more precise information is needed before they can be settled.

Prof. Gratz.

Below we publish a letter from Prof. Von Meyerhoff to Prof. Gratz, by which it will be seen that the latter is about to remove to Raleigh. We are sure that we express the feeling of the entire community when we say that this determination is known with profound regret.

Apart from his proficiency and usefulness as an artist, (and no one has ever attained a higher repute here,) Prof. Gratz has endeared himself to our people by the blamelessness of his life, the courtesy of his manners, and such a thorough identification of feeling and interest, as have made him one of the most useful of our citizens.

We wish him prosperity in his new location.

PROF. GRATZ, lately of Hillsboro, N. C.:

My Dear Colleague—Being apprised of the good news that you will soon be in our midst, appreciating your great talent for the art and science of music, as well as your personal value as a gentleman of culture, I delight in expressing my esteem and admiration for you.

We will unitedly and conscientiously labor to bring more hearts captive into the royal realm of music, and the souls who have already been recognizing the music artist, the privileged instrument of a moral and civilizing influence, will derive from it pure and ennobling inspirations. Music (without words) is the highest expression of human thought aiming at the absolute ideal, and I am exceedingly happy to know you conceive it in its purest lustre. You love it as we love the friend to whom we confide our joys and sorrows, and in whom we find a faithful response to every movement of the soul.

Come and receive my hearty shake-hands in the form of a musical reception.

Most respectfully, yours truly,

IMMIGRATION.

We have received from Col. George Little, Commissioner of Immigration, the Appendix to the report of the State Geologist. The wealth of information condensed here is very great, and brings within a birds-eye view the varied resources and characteristics of North Carolina. It is to be doubted if our own people are aware of the value of their State, and its adaptation to so many industries. How then is it to be expected that foreigners, and the citizens of other States should have the information not possessed at home?

What is the remedy? There is a vast body of information, collected, digested, and ready for dissemination. What is wanted, is money to print it, and agencies to diffuse it.

The anxiety among foreigners for information is very great. When Prof. Kerr was in Europe, in the absence of printed documents from home, he had 10,000 copies of matter relating to the material condition of North Carolina, struck off in German. They were read by eager crowds every where, and excited unbounded interest. Col. Lamb, at the head of the Virginia system of immigration, told us that he could not supply documents fast enough; that in every ale and coffee house, in England and Scotland there were to be found throngs who crowded around readers and listened with greedy interest to every detail respecting a land of such promise. In the present condition of Europe, there are thousands always looking forward to emigration, always preparing, and always leaving. They come to the American shores, and they generally find their way to the North-West, deluded by the false coloring thrown around that inhospitable clime, and deceived by false representations of the soil, the climate, and the social condition of the South.

We cannot be ignorant of the value of such an accession to our population.

We want the labor, the skill, the money, of an increase of numbers.

Our waste lands need to be brought into cultivation, our streams need to be enlivened with the hum of machinery, our mines need to have their treasuries exposed to the light of day, our towns need filling up, and our treasuries need repletion.

This can be done by directing the stream of emigration within our borders. But this can not be done without means, and means cannot be had without legislative aid.

There is always a hesitation in appropriations which do not yield immediate fruit, and whose benefits are contingent. But here is one whose profits seem beyond a contingency. It is simply to make a liberal expenditure (liberal comparatively, though really a small sum in reality,) to publish, and diffuse, through proper channels, both at the North, and in Europe, all needful information respecting North Carolina. This will have the effect of drawing to the State, and filling it with the population so much needed. It is seed sown which will bring forth a hundred fold. The small expense incurred for the publication of information will be returned in a rapidly increased population, and a largely extended tax list, and the Treasury will be filled with the contributions of our new made citizens.

Let the Legislature look to it, and act intelligently, and fearlessly, with the certain assurance that in a short time the risk they may run will be repaid by the ample compensation of enlarged population, and increased wealth to the State.

Report of the Penitentiary Board.

It appears from this report that there are now confined in the Penitentiary 409 criminals, of whom there are 60 whites males and 3 white females; and 322 colored males and 15 colored females. There were received during the year 197 convicts. During the year 2 white males, and 16 colored males died, and two colored males were killed in attempting to escape.

The building, from the report, makes slow progress, and the Directors make complaint of the effect of the present quarters both upon the morals, and the profits of the prisoners. They claim that when the buildings are finished, and labor systematized, which cannot now be done, the Institution will become in a great measure self-supporting.

A very considerable degree of energy is manifested for future work, a piece of ground has been purchased for a brick yard, at a cost of $1191,99, (13½) acres, upon which eight millions of brick are to be made, and the portion of the ground extending into the land of W. M. Boylan (11) acres has been bought for $6,000; a large sum, but perhaps a wise economy.

The whole concern is at present a mere political machine, and is a mill-stone round the neck of the State, and therefore we say as little about it as possible, merely giving such items as may be of interest to the reader.

Report of the Insane Asylum.

We have received the Report of this Institution to Nov. 1873.

There appear to be now in the Asylum 272 patients, and there were received during the year 50, and there were discharged during the year 41, of whom 17 were cured. There were thirteen deaths during the year, and two eloped. Of the cases upon admission there were 30 per cent of cures, upon discharge 44 per cent, and of deaths among those under treatment 4 per cent.

The Institution is well managed and we have every confidence in the capacity and care of Dr. Grissom.

We hope this Institution at least may never again be drawn into the slough of politics.

THE TREASURER'S REPORT.

Is too long for insertion. It gives a statement of the debt of the State under different classifications,

The old or ante war debt is	8,378,200.
Interest	2,513,460.
Total	10,891,660.

These bonds were sold by the State at par or nearly so, and there is no charge that the proceeds were not honestly expended, though the investments may have been unfortunate.

The second class consists of bonds issued since the war, but in pursuance of acts passed before and amounts to principal $2,728,000.

The third class is, bonds issued during the war, and not marketable, but were issued for Internal Improvements, and therefore to be included in the debt. It amounts to $913,000.

The fourth class consists of bonds issued to take up past due interest, and amounts to $4,128,800.

The fifth class, of bonds issued since the war to the Chatham R. R. Co. and to Williamston and Tarboro road, and amounts to $1,350,000.

The sixth includes what are known as the Special tax bonds amounting to the sum of $11,407,000.

The Treasurer urges the speedy adjustment of the public debt, not only upon the grounds of honor, but of sound policy.

He thinks the good name, and the future ability of the State to negotiate further loans will be seriously impaired if there should be longer delay. But he thinks that in view of the losses entailed by the war, the vast reduction in the value of the remaining property, and the evident inability of the people to pay all, the holders of the old class of bonds will be willing to enter upon terms of accommodation. To effect this, the Treasurer proposes to issue new bonds with a tax levied in the act for the provision of the interest, holders of the old bonds to surrender them, and receive new bonds, at the rate of one new bond for two old ones.

The Treasurer makes a gloomy picture of the assessed value of the property of the State. In 1860 the valuation of real estate in round numbers, was $67,670,000.

In 1872 it was $82,166,000.

Omitting Special Tax bonds altogether, the interest on the rest of the debt, supposing it to be funded, will be $1,406,663.99. per annum. To this added the expense of supporting the State government, and it will be necessary to raise $1,900,000. per annum, or one and three fifths per cent, on the real and personal property. If to this is added the County taxation, which is equal to that raised by the State, there will be required, outside of the towns 2 1-10 per cent of the property for the purposes of taxation,—an amount absolutely impossible to be collected, and which the Treasurer says, an attempt to enforce, will lead to open repudiation.

As the Legislature has appointed its Committees on the public debt, which will soon present matter for discussion, we make no remarks on the report.

Caution.—Purchasers of the Peruvian Syrup (a protected solution of the protoxide of Iron) are cautioned against being deceived by any of the preparations of Peruvian Bark, or Bark and Iron, which may be offered them. Every bottle of genuine has Peruvian Syrup (not Peruvian Bark) blown in the glass. Examine The Bottle Before Purchasing.

DIED

In this vicinity on the morning of the 22nd inst. Mrs. Polly Bain relict of the late Nath'l Bain, aged 87 years. She had been a member of the Presbyterian Church a greater part of her long life, and was universally beloved and respected for her many excellent qualities.

The money crisis seems past, and there begins to be hope for the early resumption of active business. Already some of the manufacturing establishments have resumed operations.

Death of Judge Boyden.

Hon. Sol. Boyden, one of the Judges of the Superior Court, died in Salisbury on Thursday after a lingering illness, in the 78th year of his age. He was a native of Massachusetts, but had been a resident of this State for more than 60y years, and was intimately identified with its political history, and was well known as a distinguished lawyer. He had been on the Superior Court Bench about three years.

That Favorite Home Remedy,

PAIN-KILLER,

Has been before the public over thirty years, and probably has a wider and better reputation than any other proprietary medicine of the present day. At this period there are but few unacquainted with the merits of the Pain Killer; but, while some extol it as a liniment, they know but little of its power in easing pain when taken internally; while others use it internally with great success, but are equally ignorant of its healing virtues when applied externally. We therefore wish to say, that it is equally successful whether used internally or externally. It is sufficient evidence of its virtues as a standard medicine to know that it is now used in all parts of the world, and that its sale is constantly increasing. No curative agent has had such a wide spread sale or given such universal satisfaction.

Davis' Pain Killer is a purely vegetable compound, prepared from the best and purest materials, and with a care that insures the most perfect uniformity in the medicine; and while it is a most effective remedy for pain, it is a perfectly safe medicine, even in the most unskilful hands.

It is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort, will save many an hour of suffering, and many a dollar in time and doctor's bills.

After over thirty years trial, it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues, from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent Physicians commend it as a most effectual preparation for the extinction of pain. It is not only the best remedy ever known for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c., but for Dysentery, or Cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency, and rapidity of action. In the great cities of India, and other hot climates, it has become the standard medicine for all such complaints as well as for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, and all other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma, and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony to be an invaluable medicine.

We would caution the public against all imitations of our preparation, either in name, or style of putting up.

TURNER'S N. C. STATE ALMANAC.

• • • This Almanac is the most valuable now published in North Carolin and should be in every family.—Tarboro Southerner.

Turner's N. C. Almanac.—This is one of the most complete almanacs ever published in North Carolina, and contains features that others have never known. A new and interesting feature is a record of the most important events that have occurred in the State during the foregoing year.—Christian Advocate, Raleigh.

• • The department devoted to the annual State record of 18.3 is a new feature of the Almanac that will commend it to popular favor everywhere.—Daily Journal Wilmington.

A BOOK FOR THE MILLION.

Marriage Guide. A private Counsellor on the Married or those about to marry on the physiology of sexes and the relations of sexual system, with the latest discoveries in producing and preventing offspring how to preserve the complexion, &c.

This is an interesting work of two hundred and sixty pages, with numerous engravings, and contains much information for those who are married or contemplate marriage. Still it is a book that ought to be kept under lock and key, and not left carelessly about the house.

It contains the experience and advice of a physician whose reputation is world-wide, and should be in the private drawer of every man and woman in the married state. It is the only book in the subject of the generative system that is worth knowing, and much that is not published in any other work.

Notice to the Afflicted and Unfortunate.

Before applying to the sexual specialists who are advertising in public journals, and who are generally regulars (or ex-Botts) who, when you first consult us, or have departed your condition.

Dr. Botts occupies a double house of twenty or more rooms; is called on by some of the most celebrated medical practitioners of this country and Europe, and can be consulted personally or by mail, on the diseases mentioned in his works. VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL

PURELY CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Billious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

ONLY FIVE DOLLARS

With the New Patent

BUTTON HOLE WORKER,

Patented June 27th, 1871.

AWARDED THE FIRST PREMIUM AT THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE AND MARYLAND INSTITUTE FAIRS 1871.

A most wonderful and elegantly constructed Sewing Machine for Family Work. Complete in in all its Parts. Uses the Straight Eye Pointed Needle, Self Threading, direct upright Positive Motion, New Tension, Self Feed and Cloth Guider. Operates by wheel and on a Table. Light Running, Smooth and noiseless, like all good high-priced machines. Has Patent check to prevent the wheel being turned the wrong way. Uses the thread direct from the spool. Makes the elastic Lock stitch, (most and strongest stitch known;) firm, durable, close and rapid. Will do all kinds of work, fine and coarse, from cambric to heavy cloth or leather, and uses all descriptions of thread. The Machine is heavily constructed to give it strength; all the parts of each machine being make alike by machinery, and beautifully finished and ornamented. It is very to learn. Rapid, Smooth and Silent in operation. Reliable at all times, and a practical, scientific, mechanical invention, at greatly reduced price.

A Good, cheap, Family sewing machine at last. The first and only success in producing a valuable substantial and reliable low priced Sewing Machine. Its extreme low price reaches all conditions. Its simplicity and strength adapts it to all capacities, while its many merits make it a universal favorite wherever used, and creates a rapid demand.

IT IS ALL IT IS RECOMMENDED.

I can cheerfully and confidently recommend this one to those who are wanting a really good Sewing Machine, at low price.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has any thing won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in no wise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Iron in the Blood

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energising effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.
